Changes Likely in Policy Toward Reds Teamsters Urged to Hold Own Beck Probe

McClellan Says Action Is Urgent Gessert Invokes 5th 40 Times

Washington, May 17 (AP)—Sen. McClellan today urged the giant Teamsters Union to conduct its own "immediate" probe to see for itself whether Dave Beck should be booted out as the union's president.

The chairman of the Senate Rackets Committee told reporters the time has come for the Teamsters to check into weeks of testimony that Beck milked the union of vast sums and his continued refusal to talk about it.

Says Trust Betrayed
McClellan said the situation calls for immediate action on the part of the Teamsters Union to pursue it and make an early determination whether Mr. Beck is worthy to continue to serve in the position of trust and responsibility, he holds.

He said Beck has "flagrantly betrayed" that trust, if sworn testimony to the committee is true "and I have no reason as of now to doubt it."

Meanwhile, according to the Associated Press, Norman Gessert, cousin of Teamster's President Dave Beck's wife, invoked the Fifth Amendment 40 times in 10 minutes in refusing to say whether he realized more than $100,000 from the Teamsters Union.

Chores for Beck
Kennedy said Gessert drew more than $50,000 in salary and expenses from the teamsters union from April, 1954 to March 31, 1957—a period in which Kennedy said he spent most of his time doing chores for Beck.

Before that, Kennedy said, Gessert was on the payroll of a local of the retail clerks union which had its headquarters in the teamsters building in Seattle.

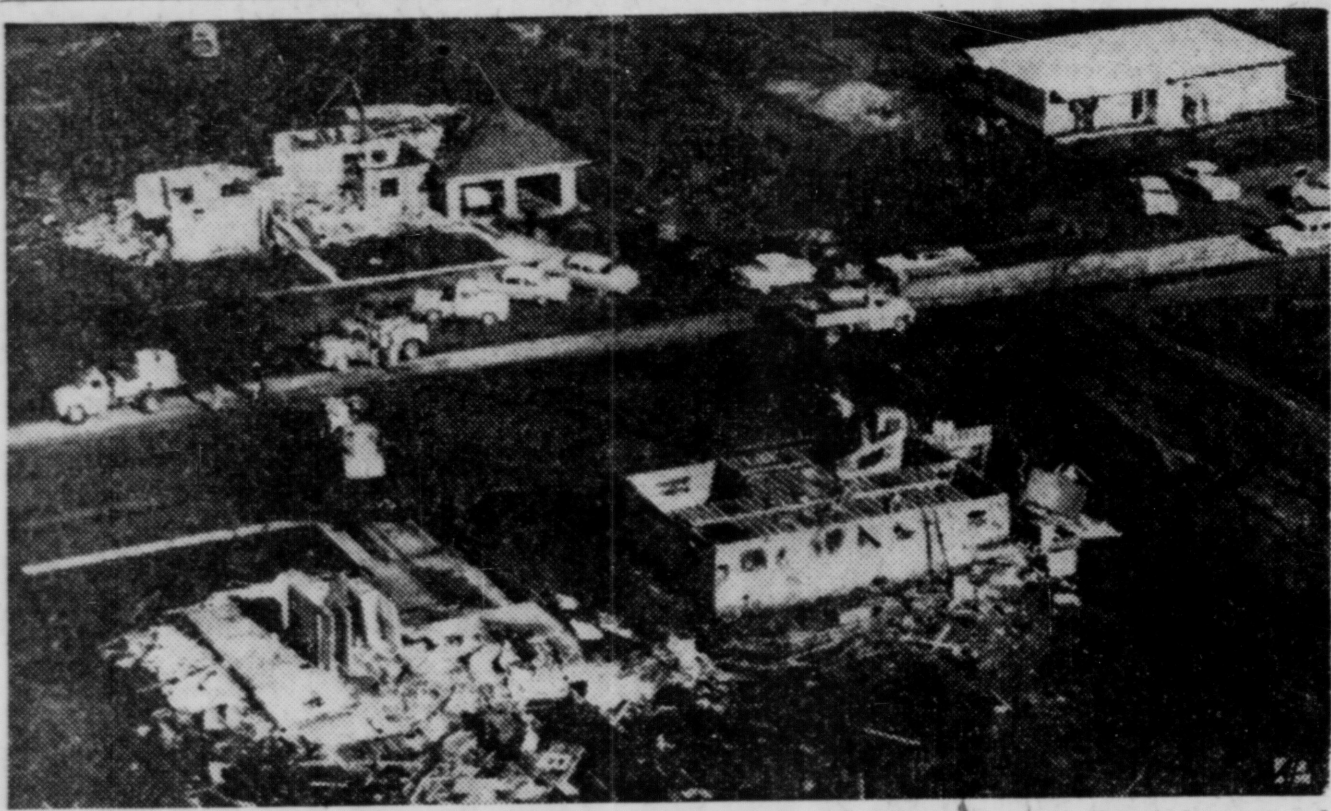

Kennedy said the clerks local was a "captive" group beholden to the teamsters.

$51,000 In Profits
In addition, Kennedy said, Gessert received about $51,000 in "profits" through the Union Merchandising Co., a firm he said specialized in selling things to the teamsters, including a batch of toy trucks to teamsters locals all over the country.

The company also sold the union furnishings for the teamsters palatial headquarters building here.

Other Teamsters officials have given no indication that ouster proceedings will be initiated against Beck or that anything has happened even warranting an investigation. However, the AFL-CIO has launched probes of both Beck and the union, temporarily suspending Beck as an AFL-CIO officer.

Beck Avoids Answers
Beck himself avoided answering questions from Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz.) during yesterday's hearing.

Rescue Hopes Fade For Boy, 7, in Well

Manorville, N. Y., May 17 (AP)—Hopes of saving a boy trapped more than 16 hours at the bottom of a 24-foot-deep dry well virtually flickered out today.

A fireman said the boy, alive for hours after he fell in, appeared to be entirely covered with sand.

Blocked by Sand
Rescue workers trying to reach the boy by digging a horizontal tunnel were blocked constantly by sand slides.

"I could only see something that looks like a root," said J. H. Warner, an Eastport fireman, after peering into the well with a searchlight at 11:30 a. m.

"That's the only thing that shows. There was only a clean layer of sand otherwise."

Warner, one of the hundreds of rescue workers who had been on the job through the night, said he had looked into the well at 9:30 o'clock last night and at that time could see the red jacket of the boy, Benjamin Hooper, 7.

Progress Delayed
Workers who had dug a wide parallel vertical shaft attempted to work horizontally toward the boy by installing a tunnel of culvert pipe. But sand slides held up progress to the boy.

Dr. J. H. Kris, supervising the pumping of oxygen into the well, said "it's possible but very improbable that the boy is still alive."

Talks, Then Silence
For hours after he tumbled into the shaft while playing at 7:30 p. m. yesterday, he talked with his father and rescue crews. Then at 2 a. m. today came silence that could have meant sleep—or suffocation.

Hundreds of persons gathered in this central Long Island village to lend a hand in whatever way possible.

The well shaft was too narrow—three feet in diameter at the top and tapering to a few inches at the bottom—to permit rescuers to descend.

Efforts were directed to digging a parallel shaft and then a horizontal connecting tunnel.

Dug by Father
The boy tumbled feet first into the well only five minutes after his father, a truck driver for the Brookhaven Town Highway Department, had finished digging it. There was no water in it.

"Oh, my God, what have I done to deserve this?" the father cried.

Unable to reach the boy, he called help.

Before long, 400 persons had gathered. Fire departments from Manorville, Eastport, Center Moriches and Riverhead sent rescue equipment and ambulances.

The rescue operation went on through the night under the glare of searchlights and then on into the morning.

Friendship Is Keynote Of Kiwanis Local, Canadian Clubs Meet Here

Friendship and unity keynoted the festivities at the Kiwanis Club luncheon Thursday on the occasion of the visit of 17 members of the Kingston, Ontario, Canada, Kiwanis Club to the local organization.

Led by His Worship The Mayor Frank P. Boyce of Kingston, Canada, the contingent from across the border brought greetings, gifts, and good-natured remarks as a token of the friendship existing for several years between the two Kiwanis Clubs of the twin-named cities.

Aid Palsy Work
A Canadian-sponsored auction inaugurated the Thursday program, with proceeds of $98 turned over to President Van Darrow to use in the Cerebral Palsy work of the local club.

Harry Rigby, acting as master of ceremonies, then introduced Mayor Frederick Stang who in turn presented "the key to the heart of the City of Kingston, New York to His Worship Mayor Boyce" of the Canadian city.

Following the key presentation, the Canadian city mayor received three varieties of walking sticks or canes—one of the presentations being made by Frederic Snyder, local world traveler and lecturer, who made known that Mayor Boyce was a collector of walking sticks and the possessor of a collection which had appeared on the television screens of the two countries.

Cites Friendliness
The Canadian mayor spoke briefly concerning the gesture of friendliness evident through the visits between the two Kiwanis Clubs. He remarked that "the heat generated by the British in the burning of Kingston years ago cannot match the warmth of your acceptance of us today."

He drew a comparison between the two cities of Kingston, even to both of them being located in an "empire"—the one in the "British Empire" and the other in the "Empire State." He further noted their similarity in that one Kingston was "on the St. Lawrence," while the other was "on the Hudson" rivers.

Mayor Boyce closed his remarks with the assertion that

Eileen Kiff Crowned Queen At KHS May Day Festivities

Miss Eileen Kiff, senior at Kingston High School, was crowned May Queen during annual May Day festivities held this morning in the Kate Walton Field House.

More than 200 students participated in the colorful program. Anthony Grimaldi, elected prime minister for the event, who is also president of the senior class, opened the program with a welcoming speech.

He then placed a crown of American Beauty Roses on the head of the May Queen. She was attended by Miss Patricia Van Kleeck, maid of honor.

Miss Kiff addressed the assemblage and presented roses to the varsity team captains.

Downtown Merchants Ask Cleaner Streets and Consideration in C of C

Rondout Area Businessmen's Association at a meeting last night appealed for an alternate street cleaning program and indicated its members should benefit from any Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce promotions.

Approximately 15 members attended the meeting at the Recreation Center, 97 Broadway. Also attending were Aldermen George Norton Jr. (R) sixth ward, Samuel J. Perry (R) fifth ward, Frank Sass (D) seventh ward, and Edwin Radell (D) third ward.

The association adopted a resolution directed to Mayor Frederick H. Stang, president of the Board of Public Works, that the plan for street cleaning in the spring and fall be alternated between sections of the city.

Start cleaning up town first one year and start downtown first the following year and so on.

Acting Secretary James E. Norton said members indicated that the downtown section should receive the same consideration as other areas in any promotions conducted by the Chamber of Commerce.

Singer Resigns
The request apparently was the outgrowth of the recent resignation of Henry Singer, operator of Singer's Department Store, 60 Broadway, a member of the association, from the Chamber.

It was reported that Mr. Singer's resignation followed the Chamber's recent promotion of "Get Acquainted Days" in conjunction with the dedication of the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge to attract northern Dutchess county residents to get acquainted with Kingston stores.

The promotion featured free bus service from Red Hook and Rhinebeck, sponsored by the Retail Division of the Chamber.

It was reported Mr. Singer felt that the buses should have been routed through the downtown area.

80 Letters Sent
The retail merchants' committee suggested and promoted "Get Acquainted Days" and we sent letters to 80 retailers," Mr. Kurt said.

"We received contributions from 16, all located in the up-town area, and they sponsored the promotion."

"The contributions were strictly voluntary. There were no personal solicitations."

"There are over 200 volunteer men working on committees developing the entire Chamber program, and I'm sure those men have the welfare of all of Kingston at the entire area in mind."

Welcome Participation
"We feel quite certain that all areas, as well as downtown, will benefit from the programs, and we welcome their participation (Continued on Page 6, Col. 4)

Court Will Hear Lanza Tape Move
Albany, N. Y., May 17 (AP)—The state's highest court will hear arguments Monday on whether a legislative committee may make public the tape recordings taken secretly of conversations of racketeer Joseph (Socks) Lanza.

The Court of Appeals yesterday scheduled the hearing on a move by Lanza to bar the use of the recordings made in Westchester County Jail Feb. 7. They reputedly carried conversations between the chunky extortionist and an attorney, Sylvester Consentino.

Turned to Fertilizer
The operation, he said, "consists of converting all the waste material into organic fertilizer."

Nearest community "having one of these plants," he said, "is McKeesport, Pa.," and he proposed that a Common Council committee and one from the BPW go there to investigate its operation, and determine whether this "is the answer to our disposal problem."

To Make Trip
Alderman William K. Bodenweber (D) ninth ward announced that he would make the trip in place of Alderman James K. Ryan (D) 10th ward.

Others on the committee are Richard V. Roth (R) 12th ward, chairman and George F. McArdle (R) 13th ward.

Mayor Stang said Alderman William S. Keyser (R) second ward, and William Davis (R) 11th ward also are tentatively scheduled to make the trip. The mayor and his party expect to return to the city late Monday night.

Members of the Common Council finance committee are expected to accompany the mayor, he said today, but the aldermen who will make the trip had not been definitely determined since previous commitments may prevent some of them from going to McKeesport.

The finance committee was named by Alderman-at-large John J. Schwenk at the May 7 meeting of the council to investigate a new means of refuse disposal.

$1,311,291 Low Bid For Bridge Link

A low bid of $1,311,291 by Grandview Construction Corp., Mount Vernon, for construction of a 1.29-mile link connecting the west approach of the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge at Route 32 with Route 9W and relocation of a short section of Route 32 was announced in Albany today.

The State Public Works Department reported the bid on the connecting link was among low bids on 17 highway construction contracts totalling $12,717,647, according to the Associated Press.

The Mount Vernon firm also submitted a low bid of $1,305,822 for construction of a new east approach to the Rip Van Winkle Bridge at Catskill.

Edward J. Burns, administrative officer of the New York State Bridge Authority, said today that Grandview also submitted a low bid of $44,836 for rough-grading work on the east approach to the Kingston-Rhinecliff span in 1954.

Costliest job, among the 17 contracts, calls for reconstruction of a 3.56-mile section of Route 14 in Schuyler county, from Watkins Glen to an intersection of Route 14A.

Triple Cities Construction Co., of Binghamton, submitted the low bid, $1,882,888.

There were two other million-plus contracts. They provide for: Paving of a previously graded 8.02-mile section of the Taconic State Parkway in Columbia county, from the Parkway's northern terminus at Route 82 to Route 23 near Martindale depot, Peekham Road Corp., White Plains, $1,837,439.

Construction of a cloverleaf interchange at the intersection of Routes 12C and 40, south of Marcy and near Utica, and construction of a bridge to carry Route 12C over the State Barge Canal south of the interchange, Hogeboom and Campfield Inc., New Hartford, $1,372,214.

Mayor, 5 Aldermen Will Inspect Plant

Mayor Frederick H. Stang will head a delegation of five aldermen to McKeesport, Pa. Sunday for an inspection tour of a new waste disposal plant.

Members of the Common Council finance committee are expected to accompany the mayor, he said today, but the aldermen who will make the trip had not been definitely determined since previous commitments may prevent some of them from going to McKeesport.

The finance committee was named by Alderman-at-large John J. Schwenk at the May 7 meeting of the council to investigate a new means of refuse disposal.

Arms Cuts Program Is Looking Up

Stassen to Hold Important Talks

Washington, May 17 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen, returning from London, said today that Russia and the western powers are seriously trying to negotiate a "partial" disarmament agreement providing for a cutback in arms, manpower and defense costs, and for an inspection system.

Stassen made clear that the "first step" goal in the United Nations talks is more than simply creating a test zone in which there would be international aerial inspection of Soviet and western territories.

He said he would report to Secretary of State Dulles in mid-afternoon but did not know when he would see President Eisenhower or consult with other top officials.

May Bring Changes
Stassen's consultations here are expected to produce important new decisions on U. S. policy for negotiating with the Russians.

The London talks were suspended yesterday until May 27. They involve the United States, Britain, Russia, Canada and France.

Stassen said that "all five countries are concentrating on an effort to negotiate successfully on what can be described as a partial agreement on limited reduction as a first step."

May Decide Soon
One specific question likely to be decided in the next 10 days is the location and extent of a test area for the "open skies" inspection plan to which the United States might be willing to agree. This would be contingent on agreement by Russia to take a definite first step toward a worldwide arms control program.

Secretary of State Dulles suggested at a news conference Tuesday that such a zone might more easily be carved out in the Arctic regions of Alaska, northern Canada and Siberia than in populous eastern Europe with all of its complicated political problems.

Stassen, President Eisenhower's disarmament aide, had a date to report to Dulles in mid-afternoon.

Officials said there was no doubt that he would also consult with Eisenhower and officials of the Defense Department and other interested government agencies.

The consultations, it is understood, will be pointed toward decisions by the National Security Council next week on specific positions which Stassen may take when he returns to London for a resumption of disarmament negotiations in the United Nations subcommittee on May 27.

The subcommittee recessed its talks yesterday after two months of meetings. In that time, Dulles said, about 15 specific proposals on various aspects of the long deadlocked disarmament problem were introduced.

Study Next Moves
Valerian Zorin, the Soviet representative in the talks, and other top negotiators representing Canada, France and Britain were reported also using the recess for consultation with their governments on the next moves.

Officials reported that the Stassen consultations will bring every phase of the disarmament negotiations under review, including problems of possible cutbacks in conventional arms, reductions of military forces, de-control of ballistic missiles and the like. But chief interest clearly centers on the possibility that the Western nations may be able to work out with the Russians some kind of limited inspection and control agreement.

The hope is that after testing on a limited basis, such an agreement could be applied on a broader scale.

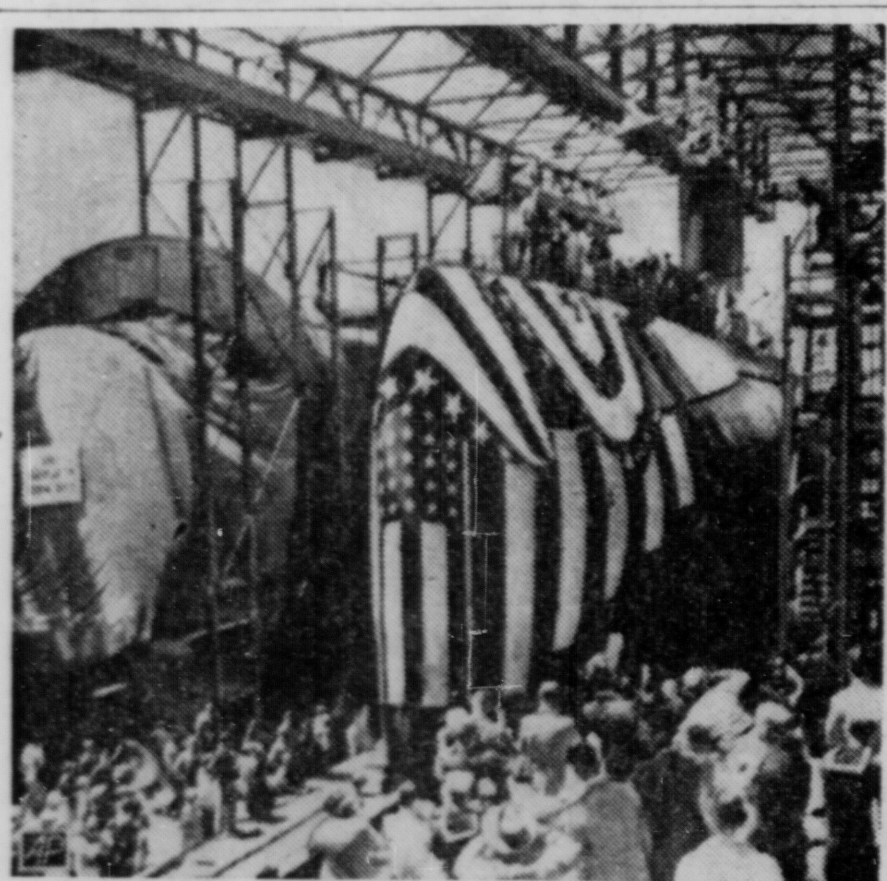

One of the gains in the current round of disarmament negotiations has been Russian acceptance of the principles of aerial inspection and of a pilot agreement. This came about most definitely when on April 30 Zorin introduced a Soviet proposal for aerial inspection over eastern Siberia, Alaska and the United States.

American officials have said that as it stands the Soviet proposal is not acceptable, but that if the Russians were really serious in making it, some kind of acceptable agreement may be worked out by negotiation.

Cost Accountants Annual Meeting Planned Monday

The Mid-Hudson Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants will hold its annual meeting, election of officers and directors and the last technical session of the year, in the English Room of the Nelson House, Poughkeepsie, Monday at 6:30 p. m.

The speaker for the evening will be Dr. Alex L. Hart, president of Alex L. Hart Associates, Northport. Dr. Hart's subject will be, "Probability Statistics for Cost Accounting."

Important Factor

Statistical control is fast becoming an increasingly important factor in successful business and industrial management planning. The accountant capable of furnishing reliable information for such control, promptly and completely, is today recognized by top management personnel as a valuable aid to them in adequate and profitable control planning. Dr. Hart, as head of his own consulting firm since 1952, specializes in statistical controls, sampling plans and operations research.

Prior to establishing his own company, he was associated with the Port of New York Authority, and before that was director of Research and Planning for Eastern Air Lines, Inc.

Previous to this he taught statistics, accounting and economics at the University of Minnesota, where he received his Ph.D. Dr. Hart is a member of the American Statistical Association, American Society for Quality Control and American Management Association.

Social Work Conference

Springfield, Ohio (AP)—This summer U. S. Lutheran churches will act as host to the first international church-sponsored meetings of social workers in Protestant history in this country. The Lutheran World Federation is sponsoring the event, the Lutheran World Conference on Social Responsibility. Sessions will be held on Wittenberg College campus Aug. 7-10. An estimated 500 of the denomination's top leaders are expected to meet with the social welfare workers from the federation's 57 member churches in 29 countries. The intensive four-day study will deal with their responsibilities in the atomic era.

A mathematics professor has calculated that a perfect bridge hand—13 cards of one suit—could happen only once in 40 billion hands.

FESTIVAL STAMP—This three-cent International Review—Jamestown Festival postage stamp will go on sale in Norfolk, Va., on June 10, when warships of a score of foreign navies will pass in review in commemoration of the 350th anniversary of the first English settlement in America. In the right portion of the stamp is a U.S. aircraft carrier of the Forrestal class against a background of silhouetted outlines of ships participating in the naval review. Health for All

AFRAID TO GET WELL

Everyone at the tuberculosis hospital loves old Mr. Brown. The long months that he has been there, he has been a model patient, cheerful, uncomplaining. Many a discouraged younger patient has been helped by his simple kindness and wisdom.

Since he's been up and around he's found plenty to do. He has his round of visits to make to friends who have to stay in bed. He helps with breakfast trays. He likes to tidy up the occupational therapy rooms, and keep the tools and machines in first class shape.

But now he is afraid. The doctor says he will be able to go home soon. The disease in his right lung is healed, and if he takes care, should never break out again. The doctor says he's one of the lucky ones.

Lucky? He'd almost rather be sick and stay in the hospital. He has no home to go to, no job. What is he to do? Sit all day in a little room? Sure, he'll get along on his social security benefits, but there'll be no extras. Maybe enough for a movie once in awhile. Restaurant meals are expensive. Can he manage to cook for himself on a hot plate? But, if he doesn't eat right, he might get sick again. Maybe he'll have to live with relatives who'll take him in because they have to. There's no one left who really cares, back in the old home town.

Are there Mr. Browns and Mrs. Browns in your home town? Too old to get a job, well enough and eager to be useful to someone, but having no one who needs them?

This is a problem that concerns us all, because we will all grow older. What recreation, what activity does your town offer its older citizens? If there's next to nothing but the movies, maybe you can do something about it. Many towns have started clubs and centers where older people can meet and make friends, enjoy old hobbies, develop new skills, and find they can still have a useful place in the community.

Pravda Rips U. S.

Moscow, May 17 (AP)—Pravda printed another bitter propaganda denunciation of U. S. policy in the Middle East today, referring to Americans as the "most brutal colonialists of the 20th century." Working the familiar line that the United States is plotting against the independence of the Arab nations, the Soviet Communist party organ declared: "The peoples of the Arab countries, which got rid of the British and French colonialists, resolutely reject attempts at reviving colonialism under the American flag."

Pete Blaschman, a senior at Kingston High School, and Sandra Biederbecke, a senior at Wappingers Central School, were selected as the first place grand award winners in the seventh annual lamp building and the second annual kitchen planning contests sponsored by the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation.

J. Ernest Doolittle, Central Hudson Vice President, announced the winners Wednesday at the company's Poughkeepsie offices before a gathering of more than 150 principals, industrial arts and home economics teachers, and the students whose lamps and kitchens had placed first in each of 36 high schools.

Ronald Robinson, a sophomore at Poughkeepsie High School, was selected as second prize winner in the lamp contest and third prize was awarded to Howard Hopkins, an Onteora Central School junior.

Mary Ann Youngberg, a senior at Montgomery High School, was selected as the second prize winner in the kitchen planning competition. The third prize recipient was Peter A. Perez, a Wallkill Central School senior.

The grand judging in the lamp building contest was conducted by Richard Fitzgerald of International Business Machines in Massa, second prize, and Pete Blaschman, first prize. Young Blaschman won the award of $50. Local high school students have captured three first place awards, and one third place award in the seven-year history of the contest. William Oskay is the industrial arts woodworking instructor.

Judges for the kitchen planning competition included Miss Marjorie Garland of New York State Teachers College at New Paltz, Miss Eileen Schill of General Electric Appliance Co., New York city, and Miss Ruth Sweeney of Western Massachusetts Electric Company, Springfield, Mass.

Lloyd Appears On Way Out as British Secretary

London, May 17 (AP)—Selwyn Lloyd today appeared on his way out as British foreign secretary.

But there is no indication of a cabinet shakeup before fall. Demands have come from the political left and right for the resignation of the 52-year-old Lloyd. Many regard him as a symbol of Suez they want to forget.

Prime Minister Macmillan admittedly is finding the foreign secretary he inherited from Sir Anthony Eden an embarrassment in uniting the various elements in his Conservative party behind a new policy dealing with Egypt—and the Suez Canal.

But Macmillan, insisting that history will justify last fall's Suez invasion, has reportedly confided to friends that he has no intention of making anyone a scapegoat.

Although the prime minister is resisting pressure to fire Lloyd immediately, talk in Parliamentary lobbies is that the foreign secretary may be eased out—possibly into another cabinet post—this fall.

WATCH OUT FOR CHILDREN

Now that the parks throughout the city are being used by hundreds of children after school hours and in the early evening, operators of motor vehicles are urged to be very careful when driving near these playgrounds.

The caution and other warning signals at or near the parks have a greater significance now than in the winter months when the parks are not used as extensively by the children. The driving also increases at this time of the year with many more cars on the road.

When entering or leaving play areas, children in their enthusiasm run across streets forgetting the safety rules they follow when going to school. This is understandable, but it places an additional trust on the motorist. Near these playgrounds, the motorist must be extremely careful and he must drive slowly.

Heavy traffic this spring on Abel street, which runs alongside Block Park, has been noted. There also have been a number of cars traveling at a rapid rate of speed at this point. We believe a reminder to be careful and pay attention to the signs will be sufficient to get these drivers to cooperate.

Most drivers are stable, careful and considerate. They know the rules of the road, that signs should be heeded and they operate their cars accordingly. However, there are other drivers.

Before we have a casualty on the roadside near the parks, these drivers, who are a threat to life and limb of our children, should be nabbed. Records show that a crackdown on speeders and other traffic law violators is followed by a sharp reduction in violations.

CAR SHORTAGE AGAIN

Almost 40 per cent of the freight cars on the nation's railroad are more than a quarter of a century old. Not enough new cars are being built to replace those now trundling toward the end of the line. In consequence, railroads are again heading for their annual car shortage as the season of heaviest bulk rate movement nears.

Each year, this car shortage is a headache not only for railroads but for manufacturers and grain shippers. Each year the subject is discussed and discussed. But the number of freight cars keeps on dwindling.

The Interstate Commerce Commission may intervene one of these days if the problem is not solved. To forestall such intervention, the railroads are considering two major plans. One of these would have the railroads create a financing agency of their own to lend money at relatively low rates of interest to roads that need more cars but can't borrow the money for them elsewhere. This plan has run into a snag because the Eastern roads, owning the most cars, would be assessed the most.

The other proposal, now being pushed vigorously by the Eastern roads, would have the government set up a Railway Equipment Agency to buy all kinds of railroad cars and rent them to the lines at charges based on the use of the equipment. This plan may soon be broached in Congress.

Whether the government should get into the business of buying and renting railroad equipment calls for much sober thought and discussion. If this turns out to be the only feasible way to get enough cars, perhaps it should be undertaken. The railroads are still our basic means of hauling bulk freight, both in peacetime and time of war. The country as a whole would suffer greatly if the number of cars were allowed to fall too far below the necessary level.

IMPEACHMENT AVOIDED

HOW TO CUT

Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas made a rather good point when he said:

"If you are to accept as gospel the statements of our officials, Congress has already been placed in an impossible position. On the one hand, we are told that if we cut the budget, we will 'breach the Nation's security.' On the other hand, we are told that if we do not cut the budget, we will have a hair-curling depression. Congress has been told that whatever it does—cut or not cut—Congress will hurt the country. It is about time that the administration made up its mind, so that Congress can proceed to do a prudent job, free of conflicting pressures and varieties of propaganda."

Of course, the real difficulty is that the Secretary of the Treasury and his staff dislike being offensive and therefore do not really say what they mean which is that the credit of the country has been impaired and that U. S. government bonds offered on the market are not readily taken up. To say that formally is to abet the inflation and to frighten the public which can further endanger the bond market and nothing really could be worse. So while all the great minds devote themselves to how to straighten out an appalling confused budget and how to lower taxes which is a political necessity, the realistic trouble is in the bond market.

When a government cannot borrow money on reasonable terms, it must either cut its budget, increase its taxes or both, and as the Eisenhower Administration does not wish to cut its budget, it will have to increase the tax rate by further reducing the value of the dollar. It is very bad economics and even worse financing but the President seems to be obstinately set in his course, and as he has no political future to look to, he is not subject to the usual pressures of public opinion.

It could work out well for the United States that a President unable to succeed himself works for the public good without regard to the effects of his conduct upon his popularity. But it could also work out the other way, namely, that a President unable to succeed himself disregards both public opinion and the dictates of wisdom. He could become arbitrary and obstinate and devote the few remaining years of public life to the warning company of personal friends and the wisdom of boon companions whose greatest virtue could be some personal skill or amusing tomfoolery, just as medieval kings had jesters, flatterers and men skilled at jousts and bouts of various natures, whose personalities pleased and who, if they did not die with their heads cut off, left great fortunes to their progeny.

The real danger to any republic is that it could cease to be a republic and become, instead, an oligarchy, even an elite.

Senator Albert Gore called attention to the fact that the United States government maintains a personnel of more than 4,000 persons on Formosa, and if these are married folks and have the usual number of wives and children, they must form quite a mob on this comparatively small area. Senator Gore said that the American Ambassador to Formosa reported that he could do with half as many and the probability is that that number could be reduced, effecting an enormous saving for this country, raising its prestige and put men to work at whatever they can really do.

In fact, the trouble here seems to be that the WPA is still in existence, jobs being made for those who like to work as government officials at the taxpayers' expense. It is a pity that Charles Bedaux, the time-study expert, went Fascist and to his death. His skill might otherwise be employed to reduce the U. S. government payroll by half or more without the slightest loss of efficiency. He might even have introduced the speed-up in occupations where a snail's pace is fast. At any rate, a government job is only a way to earn a living and should not become an undue burden on the taxpayer. What 4,000 American office-holders are doing on Formosa, the Lord only knows. And what does the PX cost—particularly as it is a good neighbor policy to buy cameras and wrist watches for your friends in a PX? Who pays the difference? You do, you dope. That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.
THE DIABETIC DIET

Yesterday we were talking about diabetes in a general way and noting that if the patient with diabetes stops overeating and eats less sugar and starch, most of the symptoms of diabetes will vanish. Of course, should the urine not become sugar-free with this moderate change in diet, it is wiser to take insulin rather than make the diet more strict.

Contrary to popular thought, the diet of a diabetic need not be severe or conspicuous. He should be able to eat without injury to himself, either without or with the aid of insulin, at the very least the equivalent of the food described below. No one wants him to become fat as overweight predisposes to diabetes.

Breakfast: One portion of fruit; cereal and cream; a slice of bread and butter; one egg or, if he needs more nourishment, either 2 eggs or one egg with bacon; coffee.

Lunch: Meat, fish or cheese; vegetables, unrestricted in quantity save for the very starchy ones such as potato and corn; one slice of bread; fruit for dessert.

Dinner: A meal similar to that at noon but rather more abundant and usually containing a salad.

During the day at least a total of one-half pint of milk and one-quarter pint of cream or vice versa and a moderate quantity of butter should be taken. Clear broths, coffee, cocoa shells and cracked cocoa can be taken without allowance for food content.

For one individual who develops diabetes under forty, there are two who acquire it above forty years. However, diabetes seldom occurs in persons over forty years of age unless they are fat. In young or old there must be a hereditary element although one cannot always find it. The influence of heredity alone may not be strong enough to make the disease develop unless the individual helps bring it on by overeating and his ability to handle sugar and starches is lowered by infections or complicating disease of the thyroid, pituitary or adrenal gland.

It is perfectly true that diabetes is a chronic disease but, unlike rheumatism and cancer, it is painless; unlike tuberculosis it is clean and not contagious, and in contrast to many diseases of the skin, it is not unsightly. Moreover, it is susceptible to treatment and the downward course of a patient can be promptly checked. Treatment, however, rests in the hands of the patient. It is by diet and exercise, as well as by insulin, and the patients with the will to win and those who know the most about their disease, other things being equal, can live the longest. There is no disease in which an understanding by the patient of the methods of treatment counts so much. But knowledge alone will not save the diabetic. This is a disease which tests the character of the patient and for success in withstanding it, in addition to wisdom, he must possess common sense, honesty, self-control and courage. These qualities are as essential along with insulin as without insulin.

"Take Off Your Hat When You Talk to a Lady"

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington, (NEA) — President Eisenhower and Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey have now both formally endorsed Sen. Harry F. Byrd's proposal to cut down on the government's fast tax write-offs for private industry—with certain specific exemptions.

These exemptions are important, as the example given below will show. But what this program of accelerated depreciation allowances really amounts to is an interest-free government loan which is to be paid back later on.

As secretary of Treasury, George Humphrey naturally looks with a fishy eye on this kind of financing. But before he came to Washington, the M. A. Hanna interests which he headed used the government's fast tax write-off plan extensively.

Eighteen easily identifiable certificates of necessity granted to Hanna companies gave 34 million dollars' worth of accelerated depreciation allowances on new coal, iron and nickel production facilities having a total cost of 47 million dollars.

NATIONAL STEEL CO., with which it has been reported Mr. Humphrey will be associated when he leaves the Treasury, has had 32 certificates granted for 77 million dollars in accelerated depreciation on projects having a total cost of 165 millions.

All these and others like them have been part of the government's big drive to increase defense production since the start of the Korean war.

Since 1950, nearly 22,000 certificates have been approved for fast tax write-offs of 23 billion dollars. This is 60 per cent on total costs of 38 billions. Most of this has gone to big business. Small business firms receiving fast write-off certificates get an extra 5 per cent allowance. But the number of certificates granted to small business since 1953 is only 2,576 for a total of 1.5 billion dollars. This is 10 per cent of the grand total by number, 4 per cent dollarwise.

Federal tax collections postponed by these tax write-offs have been estimated at about five billion dollars for the years 1950 to 1960.

THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT has already started collecting deferred taxes allowed in 1950-52. About half of the loss may be recovered by 1976. But it will take another 30 years, or till 2006, to get back the balance.

In the meantime, however, Treasury has to borrow money to make up for the taxes it doesn't collect under accelerated depreciation allowances. And the Treasury has to pay interest on these borrowings. This interest alone, on five billion dollars at 3 per cent over a 20-year period, would amount to three billion dollars.

Office of Defense Mobilization, which administers the tax amortization program, has now reduced it greatly. For all but 31 of the 227 U. S. industrial expansion goals set at the start of the Korean war have now been filled.

At the height of the program it took 125 people to administer depreciation allowances. Its business is now handled by an eight-man staff under Jacob Wycoff, with ODM Director Gordon Gray in charge at the top, to set policy.

CERTIFICATES ARE now granted only for Department of Defense and Atomic Energy procurement, and for industries where greater production facilities would be required under full mobilization for war. Guided missiles offer a prime example.

Fuel for these new weapons is liquid oxygen and liquid nitrogen. Since there is little commercial demand for these elements, Department of Defense is building 13 new plants for their production. Cost of each plant is about 1.5 million dollars, or nearly 20 million dollars in all.

Then defense planners found they would need more than double the amounts of liquid fuels their 13 plants could produce. Expanding capacity that much would cost 25 million dollars more.

Feeling they put out to private industries, to see if they would build the plants. As an incentive, ODM offered accelerated depreciation allowances.

To date some 20 applications have been received. If approved, they will permit the builders to write off about 60 per cent of the cost of their new plants, for tax purposes, in about five years.

There will be no other cost to the government for these new plants. Bear in mind also that if the federal government had built these plants, they would pay no taxes at all. This example shows the good side of the fast tax write-off plan.

Dulles' Stand Is Summed Up On Red China Newsmen Ban

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, May 16—When the press is itself engaged in a controversy affecting its own interests, it is important that both sides of the dispute be fully presented. Thus, in the argument that has developed between the Department of State and the press services of the United States about sending news correspondents into Communist China, it is only fair that the position taken by the Secretary of State himself should be widely disseminated so that the public may make up its own mind as to the merits of the issue.

Mr. Dulles, at his press conference on Tuesday, was asked for instance, to explain his recent statement that constitutionally there is no right to go everywhere to gather news. He replied: "It has been suggested that by reason of the First Amendment that newspaper people in exercise of the freedom of the press have a right to freely travel everywhere. I merely pointed out that that is not the interpretation of the Constitution which the United States Supreme Court has adopted."

Mr. Dulles was asked for citations from court decisions and he gave a number of them, the latest being a 1946 opinion by the Supreme Court of the United States which said:

"The purpose of the Constitution was not to erect the press into a privileged institution, but to protect all persons in their right to print what they will or to utter it."

Passport Issue

Turning to the question of passports, Mr. Dulles pointed out that the scope of the authority of the state department to issue or withhold passports now was under study in court cases and that he would be guided by what was finally decided.

"Doesn't your policy," he was asked, "amount to using newsmen as a weapon to force the Red Chinese to do what we want them to do?"

"It is, I think, a policy," replied Mr. Dulles, "which is designed to secure respect for American citizens, American lives, and the American passport throughout the world."

"Is it not true that your policy amounts to making the press—the American press—an instrument of American foreign policy?" was the next question. Here is the reply:

"No. Because our policy applies not only to the American press but to all Americans. Mr. Dulles went on to say that he saw no objection to the use of foreign citizens to gather news in Red China for American press services. There are good newsmen who are citizens of countries which have recognized Red China. Many Canadian and British, Australian and other newsmen are already trusted employees of American press services and are regularly sending reliable news dispatches to the United States from foreign countries. They could, of course, get passports from their own countries to gather news inside Red China.

Much information is already coming out that way. But much of it isn't printed when it comes out. Thus, in March a group of former Japanese military officers of high rank were in Red China for a news conference. They interviewed Mao and Chou En-lai. When they came out, they told a sensational story about how the Japanese people to join with the Communist Chinese "to expel" the United States from Asia. The article, which was put into the Congressional proceedings on March 28, had been furnished several days before to the American press services by an American periodical, whose correspondent got the news in Tokyo. But it was not printed in the principal newspapers of the United States, thus indicating that there probably isn't much interest in the news from Red China nowadays despite the protracted discussions here about letting American newsmen enter Red China.

An Editor's View

Perhaps the most pertinent comment on the whole subject has come from Walker Stone, editor in chief of the Scripps-Howard papers, who wrote from Rangoon last month:

"Americans, engaging in academic disputes about free press, over whether United States correspondents should roam through Red China, or in disputes involving the principles of free trade, over whether goods should be sold to Iron Curtain countries, cannot know the effect of their words in this part of the world. These are not academic questions here; they are matters of life and death. When some one sneezes in Washington, politicians out here catch cold."

"Any sign in the United States of yielding to Red China is taken as a step toward recognition and giving respectability to the Communist regime."

So, after all, it's a question of whether Red China, by its propaganda maneuver, shall use American newsmen as "instruments" of its foreign policy or whether American newsmen will, as between the two "instruments," prefer to abide by their own government's wishes in a difficult question of international relations. Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

New York, May 17 (AP)—How personal incomes can go on climbing to a record high while the production of goods slips back to the level of last fall is shown today in two government reports.

What looks like a puzzling paradox is perhaps just a shift in our way of living and in our way of thinking about government policies and industrial labor trends.

About half of the latest rise in personal incomes is due to increased government payments to individuals. Much of the rest comes from rising wage scales.

Dip Linked to Cuts

Almost all of the latest dip in industrial output is due to cutbacks in production of durable goods. Included are slow-downs in the auto, machinery, steel and other metal industries. Output of nondurable consumer goods, on the other hand, has risen to a new high and the construction industry has recovered from its March dip.

Some of the shift in our way of living doubtless is temporary. Consumer buying swings back and forth between the durables like autos and household appliances and the nondurables like clothing and gasoline.

But part of the shift is long-term. The service industries have been growing ever faster than the production industries. People have been adding to their accumulation of goods, but even more have they stepped up their demands for the countless services that now make up our standards of living.

Payments Steady
And the increase in government payments to individuals for various reasons has been steady over the years.

The Commerce Department, which reports on personal income totals each month, says that in April it reached a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 339 1/2 billion dollars, a record, and 18 1/2 billion higher than this time last year. The gain from this March was 1 1/4 billion dollars.

That half of that one-month rise represents increased government payments is because old-age benefits have increased. The department notes that farmers and others recently covered by social security are now becoming eligible in large numbers for benefit payments. Also old-age payments to women is up because a change in the law permits women to retire at 62 instead of 65.

Coal Payroll Up

Wage and salary totals in April rose by 500 million dollars over March. While employment was off in some factories, it increased in other lines. And in some industries wage scales advanced, boosting the total. For example: 80 cents more a day for bituminous coal miners.

Although the output of coal fell in April, the total payroll went up.

Farm income fell 100 million dollars in April. But various government payments to support farm prices and to maintain the soil bank are expected to help keep farm income for this year as high or higher than last.

Others Show Gain

The principal setbacks in industrial production were in auto assemblies, TV sets, crude oil (due to the reopening of the Suez Canal) and bituminous coal mining.

Gains in other production fields, however, almost offset these. The Federal Reserve Board, which reports on industrial production each month, put its seasonally adjusted index for April at 145, figured on the basis of the 1947-49 average being 100. The April figure was the same as last September's.

But the month's dip was slight. In December it had hit a record high of 147, and had held at 146 during the first three months of this year. In April 1956 the index stood at 143.

Set Visiting Day

The third college visiting day at the State University Teachers College, New Paltz, will be held Saturday and approximately 300 prospective students and their parents from New York city and Suffolk county have been invited to the campus.

John G. Vett, coordinator of Field Relations, explained that three college visiting days were scheduled this year because of the increased numbers of students and parents interested in visiting the campus. The first visiting day was held April 13 for persons in the Mid-Hudson area, and the second day was May 11 for prospective students from Nassau county and up-state New York.

Register at 9 a. m.

Visitors will register in the Administration Building at 9 a. m. and then will be given the opportunity to visit the various college classes and to take guided tours of the campus. A general meeting of the entire group will then be held in the college auditorium at 12 noon, followed by a luncheon at 12:45 in the College Union Building. The visitors will be guests of the college for lunch.

Mr. Vett explained that the students invited are among those who have been accepted to the college for next September, or who have sent in applications for admission. He said that beginning at 2 o'clock college officials will be available for personal interviews and conferences with the visitors.

Special recognition will be given this year to the Classes of 1947, 1952 and 1957, which will be celebrating their 10th, 25th and 50th anniversaries, respectively.

Plan Lantern Night

Many of the alumni are expected to arrive on the campus Friday, May 24, for the traditional lantern night ceremonies which will be held at twilight, and a reception for students, faculty, alumni and guests will be held immediately after the ceremony. Over 6,000 alumni have been invited to return to the college for the reunion. Official registration for the returning alumni is scheduled from 11:30 a. m. to 12:45 p. m. Saturday in the lobby of the College Union Building, and luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock in the cafeteria. A short business meeting will follow the luncheon.

As part of the festivities in the afternoon, the college varsity baseball team will play the alumni in the traditional final game of the season. Later in the afternoon, all of the sororities on the campus will hold open house for former members.

Driver Workshop

The 1957 driver education workshop at the State University Teachers College, New Paltz, will be held from August 12 to 23.

A basic course for teacher preparation in driver education, the workshop is sponsored by the college in cooperation with the American Automobile Association and the Automobile Club of New York. The two-credit graduate course includes 60 hours of class, laboratory and road practice during the ten-day period. Text books, and materials are furnished without cost by the A.A.A.

Dr. Loren D. Campbell, director of Driver Education at New Paltz, explained that certificates are awarded by the college to all teachers who successfully complete the course.

Offer $2,000

The All State Insurance Company Foundation, Dr. Campbell said, has again awarded the college a grant-in-aid scholarship fund of $2,000 which will be used to provide approximately 20 scholarships for the 1957 workshop.

They will be granted to applicants in the following order of preference: 1. Teachers whose school has approved the offering of a driver education course for the first time; 2. Teachers representing schools that are losing their driver education instructor and need a replacement; and 3. Teachers from high schools that wish to improve or expand an existing course.

Dr. Campbell emphasized that enrollment in the workshop is limited, and he urged interested teachers to make applications as soon as possible. Applications for enrollment or scholarships and requests for further details should be sent to the Director of Admissions, State University Teachers College, New Paltz.

Blending Colors

Dallas, Tex. (AP)—A switch in the color of license plates from black and orange to black and white seems to have lowered Texas motorists' sales resistance. Tax Collector Ben Gentile says he sold more tags earlier this season. "The orange and black we used last year didn't seem to go with the colors on the new cars," he said.

Dark colors absorb more of the sun's heat than light colors. Black objects can be 20 degrees hotter than white in the same temperature.

NEW BRANCH BANK AT STONE RIDGE—John Pike, noted Woodstock artist, made the above drawing from Architect Albert Edward Milliken's sketch of the new branch bank of the Kerhonkson National Bank, which now is being built in Stone Ridge. The bank recently opened its new main building in Kerhonkson and it is expected that the Stone Ridge branch will be opened in July.

The branch is similar to the main building, being Georgian Colonial in design and in keeping with the traditional atmosphere of Stone Ridge. The building will be 40 feet long by 30 feet wide, with a main banking area of 26 feet by 30 feet and an office and reinforced concrete vault. There will be a drive-in window, convenient driveways and ample parking space. The establishment will fulfill a much felt need for banking facilities in this fast growing area.

A. J. Anderson is president of the bank. The architect for both buildings is Albert Edward Milliken of Kingston. The general contractor is Berne Construction Co. of Kerhonkson. The electrical work is being done by Clyde Gazlay of Kerhonkson and the plumbing, heating and air conditioning by Austin R. Durr of Kingston.

Rescue Hopes

rescue workers until he collapsed.

The boy's mother, Betty, 30, learned by accident of the boy's plight.

Mother Hysterical

She is a telephone operator in the Riverhead office of the New York Telephone Co. She heard a detective reporting the boy's fall to police headquarters and became hysterical. Friends drove her home.

She was given sedatives but couldn't sleep. She paced beside the well, and then in the house. The father first lowered a rope, hoping the boy could grab it and be pulled up. That failed. Then, within a half hour, firemen lowered an oxygen hose to a point near the boy's face.

"Benny, can you hear me?" the father kept calling. "Move your finger." For at least three hours, the boy showed signs of life, either by talking or moving. Then he fell silent.

"If it's God's will, the little fellow is already asleep," the father said.

(By The Associated Press)
Flood dangers appeared increasing in wide areas of Oklahoma and Kansas today after two days of torrential rains and no indication of an immediate letup in the downpours. The stormy weather that battered the plains states again yesterday, hitting hardest in Oklahoma and Kansas after striking areas in Texas, spread into parts of the Mississippi valley early today. Thunderstorms, hail and heavy rains were reported. Several funnel clouds were sighted and tornadic winds lashed many areas.

Fears Worse Plan
Ithaca, N. Y., May 17 (AP)—A spokesman for the New York Farm Bureau has voiced fear that "Congress may concoct something worse" than the soil bank E. S. Foster, executive secretary of the organization, which claims 9,500 members in the state, made the comment yesterday on Wednesday's action of the House of Representatives, killing the plan by denying funds for its 1958 operation. "The worst feature of the action... lies in the fact that Congress may concoct something worse," he said.

Backs Suez Policies
London, May 17 (AP)—The House of Commons gave the Conservative government a 308-259 vote of confidence last night on its Suez policies. Had it lost—which nobody expected—the government would have had to resign.

Cleveland, May 17 (AP)—Doctors, getting a clear look for the first time at the interior of the injured eye of Herb Score, Cleveland ace southpaw pitcher, said today Score does not have a detached retina and there is no tear evident "at this time." Killed by Blast

Strasbourg, France, May 17 (AP)—The wife of the prefect of the Bas-Rhin (lower Rhine) Department was killed today when she unwrapped a package addressed to her husband and it exploded in her face. The husband, Andre Termeaud, is a former prefect (governor) of Algeria, capital of revolt-torn Algeria. Police said the package arrived at Termeaud's office a few days ago but was brought up to his apartment shortly after noon today. Mrs. Termeaud tore off the wrappings and found a wooden box of Havana cigars. As she raised the cover the box exploded, killing her on the spot.

Saugerties Church To Study Plans For Parish House

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., May 17— I believe in trust funds, for both children and grandchildren. The ideal method is to leave one half of your money in trust, and one half outright. In the case of children or grandchildren, you save an inheritance tax by leaving the money in trust for them and providing that your wife will have a life interest in the income. There are three reasons for forming such trusts: (1) For the protection of your estate; (2) for the saving of inheritance taxes; and (3) to be sure your children and grandchildren get what you want them to have. All of this will be explained to you without charge by the trust officer of any bank.

What About Diversification
A trust officer will properly diversify your holdings as to securities. This is also true of any money you put into Mutual Funds. Such Trust Funds, however, do not provide for diversification of management. My appeal this week is that you have several Trust Funds, each in a different bank so as to get diversification of management, as well as diversification of securities.

Trust officers are supposed to protect you against inflation. To do this they buy either convertible bonds or common stocks. Buying common stocks today, however, may be rather risky. This especially applies to the "Blue Chips," which trust officers like to buy in order to protect their own reputations. This also applies to bankers and committees who are investing Pension Funds for corporations. Few of these trustees invest with the idea of making a profit for you or your heirs, but rather with the sole purpose of providing safety and protection against possible inflation.

Investing for Profit

In previous weeks this column has shown how you can build $10,000 up to $1,000,000 in 25 years without borrowing any money or without buying anything on margin. This would be by investing in new industries before the brokers and the public woke up to their possibilities. To accomplish this I believe that the $10,000 should be divided into four trust funds of $2,500 each in order to get competition between the different trustees. A bank does not wish to be bothered with such small trust funds. Hence, it will be practically impossible to get four banks to do this. This means that you must get four individuals to serve as trustees.

These individuals should be young college instructors, one in physics, one in chemistry, one in biology, and one in business administration. If you have a son or daughter who is in college, have him or her pick out four bright, forward-looking instructors to serve as such trustees. Otherwise, write the United Information Service, 6 Maiden Lane, New York City, which will help you. These individuals should be paid a good commission for their services, based on the results which they secure for you. This will make them more interested in serving you. Having a number of trustees will also create competition and rivalry between these four college instructors.

Importance of Youth

I advise a selection of young college instructors, rather than older professors, because the older men are usually more interested in their own reputations and have more fear of making a mistake. The trust agreements will, however, provide that the trustees will not be held responsible for any losses. It will be assumed that one or two of the four trustees will lose money; but your goal will be in the total result of the four. No one person can foresee in advance which of the four will "hit the jackpot." This is the principle upon which you must work if you expect to turn $10,000 into $1,000,000 in 25 years.

I am interested in having young people as trustees for these "speculative" funds for another reason. Older men are constantly looking backward rather than forward. They want to see the audits of companies for previous years. These audits are more like autopsies. They are useful in helping a person to save his money; but are of very little use in helping him make a fortune by investing in new industries. Youth looks forward; youth is willing to take a chance; and youth is the hope of America, especially as to new developments and new industries. I would also like to see one of these trustees a young woman. The president of a well-known investment house, A. M. Kidder & Co., is a woman. In fact, the majority of our nation's stockholders are women.

Investing for Profits

This is especially important for people in high income brackets who are compelled to pay a tax of 50 per cent or more on general income but would need to pay only 25 per cent on profits from securities. Furthermore, I am not advertising that all your trust funds be of a speculative nature specializing in new industries. If, however, you plan to leave $50,000 to some grandchild in trust, I certainly advise that $10,000 of this be left with four forward-looking trustees, leaving the remaining $40,000 in a trust fund with a bank, to be operated in the usual orthodox manner.

Caesar and NBC Part Company

New York, May 17 (AP)—Television comedian Sid Caesar and the National Broadcasting Co. announced jointly yesterday that Caesar had terminated his 10-year contract with the network. The agreement had seven years to run.

The contract was signed in 1954, with Caesar guaranteed an income of about $100,000 a year. The comedian will finish out the current season of "Caesar's Hour," which ends May 25.

Caesar, 34, said he requested a release from his contract after the network declined to assure him that he would star in 20 one-hour shows during the 1957-58 season.

NBC said it had not been able to obtain sponsors for the Caesar show next year and could not afford to sustain it. Production costs for Caesar's current shows were estimated at more than $110,000 each. The network said Caesar asked for no financial settlement.

NBC said Caesar had turned down a suggestion that he curtail his regular program series and star in a minimum of two and possibly four special shows next season.

Accompanist Fired

Miami Beach, Fla. (AP)—Violinist Isaac Stern suddenly interrupted his playing of a Brahms concerto to announce he couldn't compete with a cricket. A five-minute search located the sound in a potted palm. Cricket and palm were carted out. Stern and the orchestra returned and the concert was concluded.

BRIDGEErrors Make Bad Contract

The best that can be said about North's opening bid is that it was a minimum. He would have liked to drop South's two no-trump response but the bid is an absolute force so North gritted his teeth and bid three no-trump.

South's 13 point two no-trump was a minimum also and the combination should have wound up in the soup but fortunately for declarer East and West were in there pitching and they combined to let him make his contract.

Things started out badly enough for declarer. West opened the jack of diamonds. Then East made the first mistake. He played low!

South ducked. It would have been silly to win the first lead of that suit.

Now West came through with a real mistake. He continued with the ten of diamonds. East played the queen and South ducked again. East shifted to the deuce of clubs and West won with the ace. He led the king of diamonds but it was too late. South took his ace and played the king and nine of spades. West played low and East was in with the queen.

Since East had no more diamonds declarer claimed the balance of the tricks and his contract.

West had no excuse for not leading the king of diamonds at trick two. His opening lead had clearly shown that he held the ten also and he should have allowed for the possibility that his partner had played low with queen and one.

If West had made this play he would have established his diamonds before his ace of clubs could be knocked out and South would have been down at least one trick.

Temple Emanuel to Open Drive With Rally Sunday

The campaign to raise $250,000 for the construction of a new Temple on Albany avenue will be officially opened at a Kick-Off Rally, Sunday evening, at the present Temple auditorium on Abel street. Invitations have been issued to the entire congregation.

The rally will also be in the nature of an orientation meeting at which campaign leaders will discuss the details of the proposed building and outline the plan of the campaign.

Group of Speakers

Speakers will include Richard M. Kalish, general chairman of the campaign; Dr. Saul Goldfarb, president of the congregation; Joseph E. Honig, campaign co-chairman; Edwin L. Wetterhahn, secretary-treasurer of the congregation and Mrs. Arthur H. London, president of the Sisterhood. Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom will speak on the spiritual significance of the undertaking.

In urging the congregants and friends of Temple Emanuel to attend the rally, Mr. Honig said, "In many ways—many more than we sometimes realize—the Temple meets our needs. The wisdoms which our children gain in the Temple; the happy hours of fellowship; the ministerial service; the prayer in which we mysteriously hear God's eternal voice—all these are the result of our voluntary effort. It is a tribute to our way of life and surely one of God's blessings that we all join together to make this possible. In the same way, we will join in this objective. Let us proceed with confidence. Let us make this a campaign of reverence and devotion."

Permanent Memorial

Dr. Saul Goldfarb, president of the congregation in discussing the campaign, said, "Our undertaking also presents us with an opportunity—the opportunity for congregation-wide participation. When our project, completed and staffed, is open to the community, it will be the reflection and the result of the efforts of our entire congregation. It will be a permanent memorial to the generous and heartfelt sacrifices of an entire community of Americans of Jewish heritage who have collectively determined that ours is a faith that men live by, today as well as in former years."

Court Cases Are Reported Settled

After being partially tried, the negligence action brought by Morton Richard Hoffman against Clyde Allen Gaddis was announced settled today. Saccoman and DiDonna appeared for plaintiff and Turner and Murphy for defendant. The action arose out of an accident on the King's road opposite the Mt. Marion Church.

A jury was selected to try another negligence action, Leo Platinsky against Sam Basch. Aaron E. Klein for plaintiff and Cook and Cook for defendant.

Cases settled were: John Penek Jr., against Robert D. Eastment and another, negligence. Howard C. St. John for plaintiff and Cook and Cook for defendant.

Ferris Williams and another against Master Plan, Inc., negligence. Arthur B. Ewig for plaintiff and E. Edan Spencer for defendant.

Hilda Galletta against Arthur Isabella, and Michael Galletta against Arthur Isabella, negligence. Louis P. Francello for plaintiffs and Cook and Cook for defendant.

Against Defense Cuts

Washington, May 17 (AP)—Henry R. Luce, editor in chief of Time-Life publications, said after a White House call today "this is not the time to make any cuts in the defense budget" even if it is assumed there is waste in defense spending. "Our side is making progress in the world struggle and now is the time to keep up that progress," Luce said. The magazine publisher indicated he had discussed budget matters with President Eisenhower but did not say so specifically.

As the Twig Is Bent

"We're not going to buy any new furniture until the children are grown." How often have you heard someone say that? At first thought this seems entirely reasonable. And yet—what of the effect on the children, allowed to ride rough-shod over makeshift furniture? Will they develop into adults with an appreciation for the worthwhile features of a fine home? Or will they be satisfied with the second-rate and the shoddy? The child brought up with a proper understanding and appreciation for fine surroundings carries these qualities into his maturity. And what of the parents, depriving themselves for years of the pleasure of owning a home in which they can be proud to entertain their friends?

At the Accord Furniture & TV Mart, on Route 209, you will find on display name brand furniture for every room in the house—Valentine Seaver, Kroehler, Pennsylvania House, Basic-Witz, Barcalo, Lane—just to mention a few. All at guaranteed lowest prices. During May, bedroom suites are on sale, with savings up to $100. Visitors are welcome to browse through the Mart showrooms weekdays from 9 to 5:30, Saturdays to 7, and on Sundays it's "open house" from 2 to 6.

Twenty-three Republicans helped pile up the 62-15 margin with which the Senate reduced by $33,800,000 the President's request for 144 millions to run the U. S. Information Agency (USIA).

Clark said in an interview the country "can well afford" a budget of the size asked by the President, and that it is "not too big" for a growing, prosperous economy.

Wheat Control Program Confused by House

Washington, May 17 (AP)—Action of the House in voting to kill the acreage reserve part of the Soil Bank program has thrown the government's 1958 wheat control program into confusion.

Agriculture Department spokesmen described the situation as critical because of a time element. Growers vote June 20 on a major provision of the wheat program—whether or not to continue rigid marketing quotas on the bread grain crop. They have been in operation since 1954 because of the existence of surpluses.

Furthermore, the time is approaching when the department has to put on its drive to get farmers to sign agreements to keep some wheat land out of production for 1958 harvest under the Soil Bank program—if it is continued.

Other members of the Ontario organization were entertained Thursday morning with a boat ride on the Hudson river.

Health Aids Will Be Available to Schools Next Fall

Free leaflets, posters and pamphlets in the field of health will be made available to area schools next fall, it was announced today by the school health committee of the Ulster County TB and Health Association.

The committee met this week to analyze and organize the materials which will be displayed next fall to enable teachers and parents to choose what they may want to order.

The materials will be displayed during the next school year at central points throughout the city and county. Administrators, medical personnel, teachers and Parent-Teacher Associations will be invited to preview the health materials from which they may select items for distribution without cost.

Important in Schools

It was reported that the recent meeting of the elementary cabinet of Kingston schools, held at the George Washington School, has been most successful. Dr. Jay B. Nash was the guest speaker.

Dr. Nash pointed out to cabinet members and their guests, administrators and school health personnel from various parts of the county, that health is a most important factor in the school program. He stressed the importance of a good school medical program and called attention to the ever-growing spirit of cooperation between schools and voluntary health organizations, such as the Ulster County TB and Health Association.

Miss Katherine M. Murphy, consultant to the association, reporting for the scholarship committee, pointed out that grants of $50 would be given to each of four eligible nurses selected by the committee following receipt of applications on or before May 15.

This grant, known as the Emily V. Rice Scholarship, is provided half from Christmas Seals and half from Miss Emily V. Rice, a loyal member of the board of directors of the TB and Health Association for many years.

The school health committee of the Ulster County TB and Health Association was appointed by Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb Sr., during 1956.

Representatives Named

Members representing various schools of Ulster County are Miss Mary Polhemus, principal of School 3, Kingston, a member of the board of directors of the local association; Mrs. Mabel LaFalce, nurse and teacher, Kerhonkson Central School; Mrs. Booker Pierce, health teacher and home economist at the New Paltz Central School; Mrs. Ross Osterhoudt, Stone Ridge, school attendance officer and member of the local association and Miss Mary Kelly, instructor of health and science at Kingston High School.

The objectives of this committee are to help determine the needs of school personnel and to assist in developing a program and in carrying out projects and activities in cooperation with school personnel. The slogan of the committee is, "The health of our children is the strength of the nation."

Deputy Sheriff Dies

Rochester, N. Y., May 17 (AP)—John Pullano, 29, of East Rochester, a Monroe county deputy sheriff, died yesterday at a hospital here of injuries received Saturday when his motorcycle and a station wagon collided.

World's largest producer of tin is Malaya, in the South China Sea.

MOTHERS PRESENT GIFTS TO SCHOOL

The Rev. Joseph Osterman, pastor of St. Peter's Church, accepts from Mrs. George Meehan, president of St. Peter's Mothers' Club, two illuminated world globes and a Hi-Fi phonograph for the use of the school children. The presentation was made possible through the efforts of the children of the school, their parents and friends who sold and purchased products during the sales campaign. The globes and phonograph were given to the Mothers' Club as a result of the purchases. Looking on are (l-r) Mrs. Walter Whipple, publicity chairman; Mrs. Philip Ahl, fund chairman, and the Rev. William V. Reynolds, assistant pastor. (Freeman photo)

Suits Dismissed Against State in Death of Three

Albany, N. Y., May 17 (AP)—The State Court of Claims has dismissed suits against the state totaling $1,204,081, in connection with an automobile accident in which three persons were killed.

The claimants said a car driven by Savino Beni, who lived near Poughkeepsie, skidded on a patch of ice here Jan. 4, 1953, jumped a viaduct curb and hurtled through a guard rail into a creek. The claimants alleged negligence by the state in maintenance of the highway. Killed were the driver, his wife, Josephine, and Karl A. Wilhelm, a student of Albany College of Pharmacy. Mary Beni, a daughter of the Benis, was injured severely.

Suits were brought by Mrs.

Lillian B. Tortorella, another daughter of the Benis, by Mari Beni and by Karl O. Wilhelm, father of Karl A. and also a resident of the Poughkeepsie area. The claims were dismissed Wednesday.

Predict Senate Will Beat Move to Kill Soil Bank

Washington, May 17 (AP)—Sens. Aiken (R-Vt.) and Young (R-S. D.) said today they expect the Senate to reject a House effort to kill off the soil bank farm plan.

And Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), chairman of the Senate subcommittee which will handle the House-passed Agriculture Department money bill, commented that "I am not going to rush this bill to the Senate." The House, by a 192-187 vote, wrote into the measure a ban on money for acreage reserve payments to farmers after this year.

"I have asked Secretary Benson to give us a detailed analysis of the House action on the agricultural appropriation," Russell said.

Aiken, a strong supporter of most administration farm policies, said he doubts that the Senate would want "to kill the soil bank by cutting off its funds after a congressional commitment."

"The acreage reserve was intended as a temporary four-year experiment to reduce surplus production," he said in an interview, adding: "The House move to end it before a real trial was on a very close vote."

Nevada Atomic Test Is Set For Saturday

Atomic Test Site, Nev., May 17 (AP)—Prospects looked much better today for getting the atomic test blast off tomorrow morning after two 24-hour postponements.

The Nevada Test Organization said its calculations indicated that wind currents would change enough to make it safe to go ahead with the test of a small nuclear device at 5:05 a. m. (PDT), Saturday.

Conditions at that time are expected to be the best in the last several days.

Navy Commencement To Be Held June 7

Annapolis, Md., May 17 (AP)—The Naval Academy's 117th commencement exercises will be held June 7 in a new $4,500,000 field house which is due to be dedicated just two days before the graduation.

The spacious building covers an area of 150,000 square feet and can seat about 11,000 spectators for the commencement. The building represents the first major construction at the academy since 1941.

This year's graduating class will total 848 midshipmen, the largest class since 1954. Of the new officers, 568 will go to the navy, 208 to the air force and 63 to the marine corps.

1,100 Cement Union Workers on Strike

Nazareth, Pa., May 17 (AP)—A strike by some 1,100 members of the United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers has crippled production at eight plants of the Penn-Dixie Cement Corp.

The Penn-Dixie plants here and one in Bath, Pa., counted 600 strikers. Another 200 were reported out at Woodlawn, N. Y., near Buffalo; 165 were on strike at Des Moines, Iowa; and 139 struck at Clinchfield, Ga. No figures were available immediately for Penn-Dixie plants at Kingsport and Richard City, Tenn.

Federal Mediator Walter C. Moser indicated yesterday he would not try to set up any further meetings between the union and management until next week.

Recent Mrs. America Contestants Reveal Feminine Auto Tastes and Style Wants

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

If it weren't for women, all cars would be black and the only inner refinements would be a cigar lighter and ashtray.

Leaders of the automobile industry acknowledge this fact freely, and now are so eager to find out what women want in their new cars that they are going to sensational lengths to get the information in hand. Most recent is a contest among state finalists in the current Mrs. America contest for the winning essay on designing a 1958 car.

Mrs. Linwood Findley, of Arlington, Va., the winner of the essay contest, wants bigger doors to make it easier to get in and out of cars, also suggests that a red light flash on the dashboard when the gas gauge shows near empty. The last suggestion will be greeted by cheers from every woman driver who has endured a husband's wrath when she forgot to get gas in time.

Other ideas submitted in the contest bring to mind many common tragedies of the feminine motorist. Such as that of Mrs. Lillian Wass, of Centerville, S. D., who asks hopefully for "no sharp points anywhere." You can see that this is a lady whose nylon mortality rate is high.

A number of women request washable upholstery, and many think safety belts would be good as standard equipment.

Mrs. Hugh Mactier, Omaha, Neb., wants a safe baby seat in her next car and Elizabeth Jane Messersmith, of Buckhannon, W. Va., wants a built-in wastebasket.

Mrs. William R. Wilson, of Santa Fe, N. M., wants a tissue holder and brass trim instead of chrome.

Mrs. Frances Staples, of Portsmouth, Va., asks that somebody please design something to make tire-changing easier.

Mrs. Russell H. Smith, of Tulsa, Okla., wants a back seat that converts into a play pen, and Mrs. Mary Jane Rounds, of Burlington, Vt., wants a built-in bathroom for children.

Mrs. Howard Hanks, of Newark, Del., says she'd like to see the tail fins "designed out."

Mary Alice Eaker, of Cape Girardeau, Mo., asks grimly for a "parking gear."

Mrs. Louise McGhie, of Salt Lake City, wants a disposal unit under the glove compartment, and Mrs. Edward J. Campbell, of Charlotte, N. C., would like to have trays front and back to hold food and glasses.

Mrs. Laura Anne Hollar, of Rocky Ford, Colo., wants somebody to design a rubber floor mat that doesn't catch on high heels. These are the things the girls want in next year's cars. Who knows? Maybe they'll get them.

Miss Nancy Marie Tymeson, daughter of Mrs. Alberta Tymeson of 8 Lafayette street, Saugerties and Vernon Tymeson of Partition street, Saugerties, became the bride of Jay Ralph Gakenheimer, son of Mrs. Catherine Gakenheimer of 18 South Clinton avenue and the late Ralph Gakenheimer, Sunday, May 12, 2:30 p. m. in St. Joseph's Church.

The Rev. Alfred P. Glancy officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a Swiss imported embroidered organdy gown styled with a fitted bodice, Sabrina neckline, short sleeves and a bouffant skirt made of embroidered organdy tiers. The skirt terminated in a sweep train. The bride also wore a French illusion fingertip veil gathered to an organdy crown. She carried a white orchid on a white Bible.

Mrs. Robert Davis of Saugerties was the matron of honor. She wore a mint green nylon chiffon gown styled with a draped bodice, floor length skirt and a crown of seed pearls from which fell a flirtation veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of mint green and yellow daisies.

A reception was held at the Flamingo for approximately 100 guests.

The bride is a graduate of Saugerties High School. Her husband is a graduate of Kingston High School and is employed by IBM in Kingston.

For her wedding trip south, the bride wore a grey and white check princess style dress with black accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Her mother, for the wedding, wore a beige lace dress with beige accessories and a corsage of green orchids.

The bridegroom's mother wore a light blue taffeta dress with pink accessories and a pink rose corsage.

The couple will make their future home at 50 Washington avenue, Saugerties, when they return.

Ulster Hose Party Is Well Attended

Approximately 100 people attended a card party last night at Ulster Hose No. 5, sponsored by the Town of Ulster Republican Club. Those present were from all parts of the town of Ulster, as well as the city of Kingston and adjacent areas. There was such enthusiasm on the part of the players that it is planned to have another such event before the end of the year.

The president of the club, Francis J. McCullough, thanked Mrs. Emma Houser, chairman of the event, her various committees, the donors of the many fine prizes and all those who attended. He pointed out that this is just one of the many activities planned by the club for this coming year and that among future events will be a Family Day in mid-summer which will give the people of the town of Ulster a chance to get together and become better acquainted. He encouraged membership in the club and also thanked the various members of the executive board who were in attendance.

Following the card party, refreshments were served.

A SITUATION THAT CALLS FOR FRANKNESS

A bride-to-be writes: "I sent out my wedding invitations about ten days ago and enclosed reply cards for guests to answer. The invitations were addressed to Mr. and Mrs. alone with no mention of the children. Replies are starting to come in and to my dismay several of them have included their children (so far there are six). This is the one thing I wanted to avoid as I am having a sit-down reception at a hotel where the charge is so much per person. Will you please tell me if there is anything I can do about this?"

The only thing you can do is to write and say: "We are very sorry but the reception is to be a sit-down breakfast to which unhappily the number is limited; and as much as we would like to include Mary and Tommy, if we do, all the other children will be hurt if they aren't invited."

Singing "Happy Birthday"

Dear Mrs. Post: When inviting friends to dinner in a restaurant to celebrate a birthday, is it wrong to have a birthday cake brought to the table by the waiter (which was ordered beforehand) and for the guests to sing "Happy Birthday"? I think this is out of place in a public restaurant, but there seems to be some disagreement. What is your opinion?

Answer: It would be quite all right to have a birthday cake brought to the table, but to sing "Happy Birthday" would be unthinkable conspicuous—unless it were in a room partly separated from the other diners.

Boy Friends Invited

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to give a surprise party for my daughter on her twenty-first birthday. I know all of her girl friends but do not know their boy friends. (Most of them have steady boy friends.) Will you please tell me how to address the invitations so that they will know their boy friends are invited too?

Answer: Write a personal note inviting them and at the end you would add, "We would be delighted to have you bring a man with you if you care to."

In Mrs. Post's leaflet E-21, "Model Notes," she describes what to write when writing thank-you notes or notes of condolence. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP in care of The Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Dutchess County Philharmonic Orchestra To Present Fourth Concert on Wednesday

The Dutchess County Philharmonic Orchestra will present a special fourth concert, 8:30 p. m. Wednesday, May 22, at the new Poughkeepsie High School. According to Ole Windstad, the orchestra's conductor, this will be the first time since the 1950-51 season that the orchestra has given more than three concerts in one season, excluding the annual free youth concert.

Mr. Windstad also indicated that this special fourth concert will continue the trend set by previous concerts this season which have been of a more popular nature than in the past. The program will feature Beethoven's Symphony No. 5 and will also include the Overture to Alceste, Gluck; the Prelude to Lohengrin, Wagner; and the Suite from Sigurd Jorsalfar, Grieg.

This special concert is being made possible through the generosity of the members of the orchestra, the conductor and friends of the Society. The musicians and Mr. Windstad are donating their services, and supporters are providing the programs and assuming some other financial obligations connected with presenting a concert. Donald P. Cameron, president said today, "We hope to give more people an opportunity to hear what a fine orchestra we have here in the community by offering this special concert at considerably less cost to them than the regular subscription concerts. It might even be possible to return to a regular four-concert season next fall, if enough interest is shown at this time," Mr. Cameron said.

The Philharmonic almost collapsed last season, due to an accumulated operating deficit, and only through the success of a recorded stereophonic concert, which was presented for the Society by Charles R. Doty, local hi-fi enthusiast, was it able to finish the season in sound financial condition.

Male Chorus Concert Set for Saturday

The 300 voice Male Chorus of the Mohawk-Hudson Male Chorus association will present one of the largest charity concerts in the Hudson Valley this season. The Mass Concert will be held Saturday, at 8 p. m. in the IBM Country Club. The entire proceeds of this presentation will be for the benefit of the Children's Home of Poughkeepsie.

Tickets may be obtained from any member of the participating club, stores in Poughkeepsie where posters are displayed, the office of the IBM Country Club or from the sponsors, members of the IBM Male Chorus.

Members of The Mendelssohn Club of Kingston will be part of the 300 male voices on stage in the Mass Concert during the second part of the program.

Special guests featured on the program will include:

Miss Mary Dawn Judd, soprano soloist; the Catskill Glee Club directed by Roland Heermance; the Mendelssohn Club of Albany directed by Joel B. Dolven; the Vassar College Glee Club directed by Dr. John Pierce.

Plenty of parking space will be available and tickets for the 1200 seats in the auditorium may be obtained at the door. The public is cordially urged to support this worthwhile charity concert.

Ulster Hose Party Is Well Attended

Approximately 100 people attended a card party last night at Ulster Hose No. 5, sponsored by the Town of Ulster Republican Club. Those present were from all parts of the town of Ulster, as well as the city of Kingston and adjacent areas. There was such enthusiasm on the part of the players that it is planned to have another such event before the end of the year.

The president of the club, Francis J. McCullough, thanked Mrs. Emma Houser, chairman of the event, her various committees, the donors of the many fine prizes and all those who attended. He pointed out that this is just one of the many activities planned by the club for this coming year and that among future events will be a Family Day in mid-summer which will give the people of the town of Ulster a chance to get together and become better acquainted. He encouraged membership in the club and also thanked the various members of the executive board who were in attendance.

Following the card party, refreshments were served.

Regular Veterans Drive for Support Of Widow's Bill

A concerted campaign to support of HR 358 (O'Hara Bill) for the benefit of the widows of Spanish-American War Veterans will get underway at the executive meeting of the Ulster County Memorial Post and Auxiliary of Regular Veterans Association Thursday, May 23 at 8 p. m. at the home of Commander George W. Nichols, State road, Bloomington.

The organization has prepared petitions to be signed by citizens of the county supporting the bill which passed the House May 6 and has been sent to the Senate for action. The petitions when completed will be forwarded to Senators Irving M. Ives and Jacob K. Javits. The bill if passed would provide an increase to $75 per month for widows of Spanish-American War veterans. It was pointed out that the group receiving the benefits has an average age of 78.

Convention Mandate
The bill was covered by the National convention mandate of the Regular Veterans Association.

According to Commander Nichols the organization hopes to secure 2,000 signatures from Ulster county voters before May 30.

The post will also take preliminary action on nominations for 1957-1958 officers and will outline a plan to distribute 1,000 packages of candy, toys and books. Refreshments will be served by the auxiliary.

Gets $14, Misses $700

Winton, England, May 17 (AP)—A purse-snatcher escaped yesterday with Mrs. M. J. Winton's handbag, containing 5 pounds ($14). A bag in her other hand, which the thief missed, held a 250-pound ($700) payroll for workers at her store.

Ashamed Over Test

Tokyo, May 17 (AP)—Harold Steele, the British pacifist, arrived here today wearing a black tie which he said was in mourning because Britain triggered an H-bomb in the Pacific. He said he was "deeply ashamed and terribly sorry" that Britain had gone ahead with the H-bomb test. The bespectacled poultryman, who originally had set out to join a Japanese "peace navy" protest mission to the test area, was met at the airport only by reporters. There were no members of the Japan Council Against Atomic and Hydrogen bombs to welcome him. The council has called off its "peace navy" project.

Graham Singers Impress Gotham; 1,545 Respond

New York, May 17 (AP)—Seldom has such sound been heard around Broadway.

It's the spine tingling vibrancy of thousands of voices blending in lyric gospel hymns.

This is an impressive feature of the Billy Graham crusade, which today rolls into its third day in vigorous fettle.

"We heard that singing and decided to go in," explained one of a group of soldiers last night.

13,000 on Hand

The soldiers were among 13,000 people that streamed into Madison Square Garden for the second night of Graham's six-week stand in New York.

No telling how many were drawn in by the choir warming up the soaring tones float out to the street, a rare contrast to the thumping juke boxes and jive in the nearby bars.

Familiar, rhythmic old hymns are chosen for the massed singing—instead of heavy, formal church music—and strains of "Trust and Obey" and "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" make the rafters thrum.

Songleader Cliff Barrows slices and slams the air, his body arching, swooping and stretching, as he leads the white-shirted, 1,500-voice choir. The whole congregation frequently joins in.

At one point last night, he worked up an electric bit of antiphony, with various sections of the throng sounding out on different phrases of "Revive us again."

Persuasive Finale

The volume of thousands of throats—tenors, sopranos and basses—would leap up in surges from various parts of the arena: "Hallelujah," "Thine the glory," "Hallelujah," "Amen," "Hallelujah," "Thine the glory!" "Revive us again!"

But whatever spell the music weaves, Graham adds to it a persuasive finale after he steps to the microphone.

Last night, when he made his plea for new believers to come forward "and accept Christ as your personal Lord, Master and Savior," approximately 1,545 people responded.

On the night before, a count of interview cards today showed 704 had taken such a step, although the preliminary estimate was given as only 485. Even that was a record first night number for a Graham crusade.

One woman collapsed and died at the outset of the services last night. She was identified as Mrs. Gertrude Mabray, 54, of New York city.

Attendance last night fell below the opening turnout, when 18,500 filled the Garden, but Graham said the 13,000 surpassed any second-night crowd at any of his campaigns so far. "The first 10 days of a crusade are always the most difficult," he said. "There is not quite the spirit in the early days that develops as we go along."

Briefly Told

Massena, N. Y., May 17 (AP)—Donald E. Canup, 52, died yesterday of injuries suffered Wednesday when he fell 35 feet from a scaffold on which he was installing hand-rails to prevent falls.

Canup, a carpenter, was employed on the construction of the Barnhart Island Powerhouse on the New York side of the St. Lawrence river, power project.

Glens Falls, N. Y., May 17 (AP)—A four-year-old boy fell from a concrete wall into an old feeder canal near his home last night and was drowned.

The body of Curtis Hack, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hack, was recovered about an hour and a half later. Police said his sister, Linda, 7, tried to reach him but the current swept him away.

The canal, used principally to transport logs, makes a loop from the Hudson river to the Champlain section of the barge canal.

Washington, May 17 (AP)—The Communications Commission yesterday authorized television Station WNYT-TV serving the Buffalo-Niagara Falls, N. Y., area, to transfer from Channel 59 to Channel 29.

El Paso, Tex., May 17 (AP)—A certificate of suicide has been

Officials at Biggs Air Force Base said yesterday that William Beaumont Army Hospital officials had issued a death certificate saying that Tooker took his life late Monday night.

Tooker was found strangled in his barracks room with a belt around his neck.

The body of the airman, a member of the 810 Air Police Squadron, was sent with an escort to Saratoga Springs.

Washington, May 17 (AP)—Allgheny Airlines has asked the Civil Aeronautics Board for permission to suspend service at Jamestown, N. Y., to allow for extensive improvements at the airport.

The airline wants to stop service for two or three months beginning Monday.

Lackawanna, N. Y., May 17 (AP)—Mayor Walter J. Paryz Jr., 28, believed to have been the youngest city mayor in the nation at his election in 1955, died yesterday at a hospital of a liver ailment.

Prior to his election to a two-year term as mayor when he was 27, he had been the only Republican on the city's Democratically-controlled common council.

He became ill last December, underwent major surgery last March and returned to Buffalo General Hospital Monday.

Kingston Lions Give $3,000 to Help Area Funds

Approximately $3,000 in gifts has been donated by the Kingston Lions Club to area funds and organizations, it was announced today.

In addition to the gifts the club established two scholarships in business education to be awarded to two Kingston High School seniors this June. The scholarships total $600.

The gifts and scholarships were made possible by proceeds of the annual Lions Exposition at the state armory April 2-6. Included in the total was a donation of $300 for the local safety program for children in Grades 1-6 sponsored by Mayor Frederick H. Stang and the Kingston Police Department. There is no provision in the city's budget for such a program.

The following gifts were announced: Benedictine Hospital Building Fund for the nurses home, $1,200.

Hoots Who

Tucson, Ariz. (AP)—The Arizona-Sonora Desert Museum, which maintains a collection of birds and animals native to the Southwest, now has an owl named Elvis. Director William H. Woodin said the bird acquired the name because of its unusual knack of swinging its hips—unusual among owls, that is.

Typos Vote Bigger Strike Benefit Fund

New York, May 16 (AP) — Local 6, International Typographical Union, today announced that its members had voted in favor of establishing a strike benefit fund of $500,000.

The membership of Local 6, largest in the union, embraces New York city.

The referendum, conducted yesterday, resulted in 4,443 votes for the proposal, to 3,077 against. The proposal provides for an increase of one per cent in assessments on total earnings for three months. If adopted in the nationwide referendum, it would become effective in July.

Another proposal to increase per capita assessments from $1 to $1.50 a month, also was carried in the Local 6 vote, 4,372 to 3,217. This proposition provided for an increase in funds for the printers' home at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Whether the two changes will be adopted will be determined by the nationwide vote, which will be tabulated by ITU Headquarters in Indianapolis.

Adlai to Meet With Schweitzer on H-Ban

Paris, May 17 (AP) — Adlai Stevenson said today he will discuss the possibilities of banning the hydrogen weapon with Dr. Albert Schweitzer. Stevenson, twice the Democratic presidential nominee, plans to see Dr. Schweitzer while touring Africa.

Stevenson arrived in Paris for a six weeks tour of western Europe and Africa. The African trip will start June 1 and will last five weeks, during which Stevenson will stay at Lambarene in French Equatorial Africa where Dr. Schweitzer's mission is located.

The famed French humanitarian issued a plea last April 23 warning of the danger to mankind from radiation and asking for an end to nuclear weapons tests. In the last presidential campaign Stevenson came out for halting H-bomb tests.

Poughkeepsie Ace Pitches One-Hitter Against Kingston

Pioneers Beat Maroons, 7 to 1 In DUSO Contest

A seventh-inning single by Kingston's Bill Chase ruined righthander Alan Smith's bid for a second straight no-hitter in a DUSO baseball game Thursday at the Bridge City.

Smith, who no-hit Port Jervis the last time out, walked three and struck out eight to breeze to an easy 7 to 1 victory. Bob Beadle, who was routed in the midst of a five-run rally in the fourth inning, was the losing pitcher.

The win was the third in four starts for Coach Sam Kalloch's Pioneers, while the Maroon record now stands at 2 and 2.

Chase Gets Single

Chase left off with a clean single to center in the seventh for Kingston's only hit.

The Maroons escaped a shut-out in the fourth when Willie Cragan led off with a walk, stole second, went to third on an infield out and scored on Hobbie Armstrong's fly to deep left.

A stream of wildness hurt Beadle in the fourth. Two walks, a hit batsman, wild pitch and a single accounted for the five runs before Giannuzzi came on to strike out the side.

Wilcinski paced the Pioneers with a pair of singles.

Giardello Boxes Calhoun Tonight

Cleveland, May 17 (AP)—Rory Calhoun, Georgia-born slugger now of White Plains, N. Y., will be out to demonstrate against Joey Giardello tonight in 10 rounds at the arena that there was no need to go into the welterweight class to find an opponent for Ray Robinson.

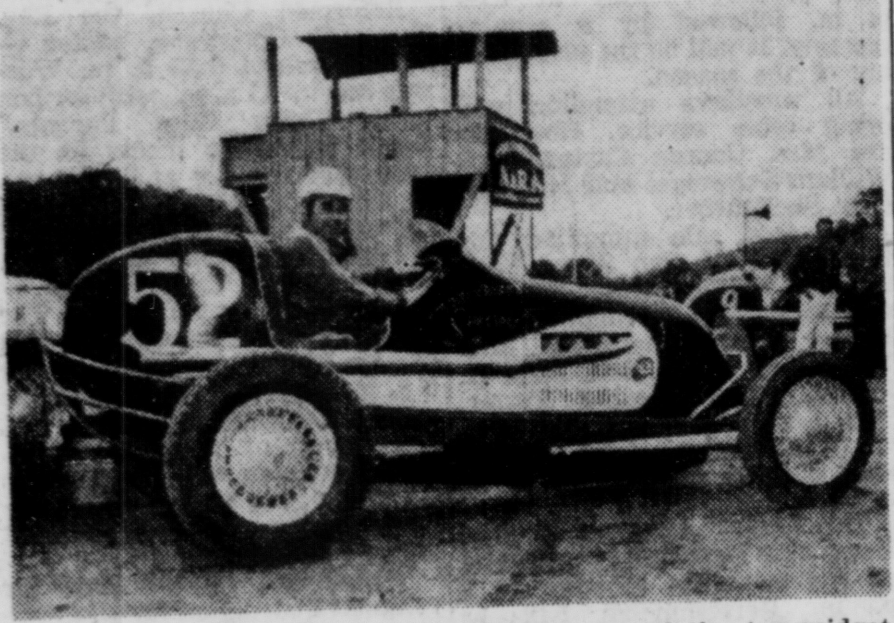

"It's all wrong for the International Boxing Commission to bypass a fine group of present middleweights to put Carmen Basilio (welterweight champ) in for a title shot against Sugar Ray Robinson," complains Sugar Ray's manager, Fred Bachman.

The 22-year-old Calhoun has been fighting professionally since late 1954 and has a string of 27 victories, 14 by knockouts, and a lone defeat, a close decision to Spider Webb in Chicago last August.

Giardello, a Brooklyn-born Philadelphia who will be 27 next month, has six more years of ring experience than Calhoun and has won 70-23 of them by kayoes—against 13 losses.

Rated No. 4 middleweight contender by Ring Magazine and No. 5 by the National Boxing Assn., Calhoun holds the notch above Giardello on both lists.

The fight will be nationally televised by NBC at 10 p. m. (EDT).

Hecht Beats New Paltz For Walkill

Henry Hecht batted and pitched Walkill Central to a 2-1 squeaker over New Paltz Central yesterday at the loser's diamond.

The lefthander knocked in both runs with a homer and single and flipped a neat seven-hitter as his club moved into sole possession of second place in the UCLAL with a 5-2 mark.

Hecht Homers

Hecht homered in the third to break the scoring ice and then singled behind two walks in the next round to send over what proved to be the winning tally.

New Paltz's only run came in the sixth and was unearned. Hits by Charlie Vetter and Floyd Diedolf preceded an error by first baseman Ted Wright and allowed the marker to cross.

Jack Campbell, a righthander, lost the duel to Hecht. He hurled good six-hit ball and struck out a half dozen. He passed three.

Hecht fanned 11 and passed just two.

New Paltz is still searching for its first win. The Huguenots are 0-7 in the loop.

Pitching

Bob Turley, Yankees—Picked as a last minute substitute for Whitey Ford, the strong-armed righthander yielded only four hits, struck out eight and won his first game of the season as the Yankees shut out Kansas City 3-0.

Sawyers Drop First Decision After 10 Wins

An old nemesis has finally halted the longest baseball winning streak of the season in the Hudson Valley.

John Mustion, who has taunted Saugerties High on many occasions in basketball, derailed the Sawyers yesterday with a sparkling three-hitter, snapping their 10-game skein as Rondout Valley Central won, 5-2, at Cantine Field.

The big righthander was superb as he silenced the big Sawyers bats for the first time this year. Saugerties had steam-rolled through six UCLAL clubs and four non-league foes before running into Mustion.

Sweet Win

The victory was an especially sweet one for Coach Hal Ross' heroes since it avenged a humiliating 26-0 pasting by the Sawyers earlier in the season. The win lifted Rondout over the 500 mark for the first time since early in year, and makes their record 4-3.

Rondout waited until the final frame before sewing things up with three runs which snapped a 2-2 tie. Art Stockin started the rumpus with a triple off relief pitcher and loser Dick Elliott. Vic D'Alessio's single unknotted it and chased Elliott from the hill.

Ace righthander Skip Kugelmann then took over and was greeted by Tom Gilman's hit. Then followed a fielder's choice, a walk and Bill Mustion's base knock for the other two tallies.

Saugerties opened the scoring in the second when George Neher did almost the impossible by stealing second, third and home after signaling.

Rondout Scores

In the fifth, Rondout broke the scoring ice and forged in front 2-1, knocking out starter Jim Erceg in the process. Erceg started his own downfall by walking Stockin and hitting D'Alessio with a pitched ball. At this point Coach Bill Straub wanked him in favor of Elliott. A safe fielder's choice on Gilman's grounder loaded the bases, but Elliott forced dangerous hitting John Mustion to wrap into a double play as Stockin scored. Erceg, who had moved over to third base, then booted Bill Smith's roller, letting in the second run of the stanza.

Saugerties Ties

Eddie Riozzi's double behind a hit by Elliott and a throwing error deadlocked the game in the bottom of the frame.

Mustion was at his best and seldom in hot water. He struck out 10 and walked three. He was helped out in the seventh by a tremendous running catch in left field by Steve La Falce with a runner on base and none out.

Despite the setback, the Sawyers cling to their first place lead over Walkill which nipped New Paltz. Walkill stands 5-2 and now trails by just one game.

Polio Cases Up 31 During Week

Washington, May 17 (AP)—New polio cases last week numbered 71, a jump of 31 over those in the week ended May 4, the Public Health Service reported today.

A spokesman said an increase was to be expected at this season, but he could not explain why the number of cases last week came closer to equaling those in the comparative 1956 week than has been the case in months. He did note that a year ago there was a slight decrease during the week.

783 During '57
The 71 cases compared with 85 in the comparative 1956 week, while the 40 in the week ended May 4 compared with 91 a year earlier.

Since the 1957 polio season started April 1 there have been 256 cases, compared with 479 last year.

For this calendar year there have been 783 cases, in contrast to 1,546 for the 1956 span.

More Nutrition
Chicago, May 17 (AP)—A nutritional expert said today bread and other cereal foods supplemented with amino acid and lysine would occupy an increasingly important place on the table of diet-conscious America. Dr. Frederick J. Stare, of the Harvard School of Public Health, told the Millers National Foundation in a prepared speech that lysine added to wheat almost doubles the protein quality of the grain. Wheat cereal foods and bread are low in fat but also low in protein. The addition of lysine would remedy the shortage, Stare said.

Big Powers Are Closer to Arms Pact: Stassen

New York, May 17 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen, President Eisenhower's special disarmament representative, said today that the big powers are "closer to an agreement on a first-step arms cut" than at Easter time.

Stassen returned by plane from London, where he served as head of the U. S. Mission to the United Nations Disarmament conference. He told newsmen: "I have no comment at this time on any of the details of the talks. We are in the negotiation stage right now."

"I would simply say we are closer to an agreement for a first-step arms cut now than we were when I returned at Easter time."

This is Stassen's second trip back to this country since the disarmament sessions began. Stassen said he was going by plane this morning to Washington to report to Secretary of State Dulles.

Joanne Dru Divorced

Los Angeles, May 17 (AP)—Divorce has ended the eight-year marriage during which actress Joanne Dru and actor John Ireland managed to accumulate $53,388.66 in debts. This total of unpaid income taxes and bills was given Superior Court yesterday when the 34-year-old actress was granted a decree on testimony that Ireland had become too hard to live with. A settlement provides that both will pitch in and pay off the bills from proceeds of the sale of their home and from their earnings.
